

Present Simple vs. Present Continuous

I Use the correct verb form to complete the sentences below:

1. Our team _____ (have) a meeting on Wednesday mornings to discuss the progress we have made.
2. The new colleague _____ (work) in John's team, but he _____ (not/report) to him.
3. We _____ (sell) cars, but we _____ (not/produce) the parts and we _____ (not/assemble) them.
4. _____ you _____ (want) to know why this model _____ (be) so successful?
5. Hannah _____ (monitor) the production process and she _____ (know) what the problem might be.
6. Currently, they _____ (design) a new engine.
7. Sorry, Mr Oliveira _____ (not/be) at the office, he _____ (attend) a conference in Madrid.
8. Today, we _____ (not/work) from the office, we _____ (work) from home.
9. What _____ she _____ (do)? She _____ (damage) the photocopier by using it like that!
10. _____ you _____ (make) any progress with the report?

II Put the verbs in brackets into the correct form:

Hello everyone. Thank you for meeting us today. I _____ (be) Matthew and I _____ (work) for the Click IT magazine. I _____ (write) articles for the Innovations column. Although most of my work _____ (require) a lot of time in the office, there _____ (be) a new project my team and I _____ (prepare) for the next quarter which _____ (involve) spending time with brilliant young people such as yourselves. We _____ (visit) various companies and _____ (interview) experts in charge of the new products. Today, we _____ (wish) to find out more about the game all of you _____ (test). My colleague Lloyd here _____ (love) games and he _____ (have) some questions for you.